

MID-WEEK PICTORIAL

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY PUBLISHED BY The New York Times COMPANY
VOL. XIII, NO. 7, APRIL 14, 1921.

PRICE TEN CENTS
[CANADA 15 CENTS]

"PLAY BALL!"

"BABE" RUTH

Mightiest of home-run hitters, who hopes this year to excel his record of 54 home runs made in 1920.

(© International)

Flashlights

Funeral of John Burroughs, the famous naturalist, at Roxbury, N. Y., April 3, exactly 84 years after the day of his birth. The services were simple and unconventional, as he himself would have wished. There were a few short prayers, followed by the recitation of poems, one of them having been written by Edwin Markham for the occasion.
 (© Wide World Photos.)

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, &c., REQUIRED
BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF
AUG. 24, 1912, OF

Mid-Week Pictorial

Published weekly at New York, N. Y., for April 1, 1921.

State of New York, County of New York, ss.: Before me, a Registered Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Charles R. Miller, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Vice President of The New York Times Company, publishers of Mid-Week Pictorial, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, &c., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of Aug. 24, 1912, embodied in Section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business manager are:
 Publisher—Adolph S. Ochs,
 The Times, Times Sq., New York City.
 Editor—George W. Ochs Oakes,
 The Times, Times Sq., New York City.
 Managing Editor—George W. Ochs Oakes,
 The Times, Times Sq., New York City.
 Business Manager—George W. Ochs Oakes,
 The Times, Times Sq., New York City.

2. That the owners are:
 Owner—The New York Times Company.
 Stockholders holding 1 per cent. or more of total amount of stock:
 Adolph S. Ochs, controlling stockholder,
 The Times, New York City; Charles R. Miller, The Times, New York City; Elisabeth Luther Cary, The Times, New York City; Carl V. Van Andra, The Times, New York City; Louis Wiley, The Times, New York City; Estate of John Norris, The Times, New York City; Iphigene Ochs Sulzberger, The Times, New York City; Effie Wise Ochs Trust, The Times, New York City; Julius Ochs Adler, The Times, New York City; Arthur Hays Sulzberger, The Times, New York City; Jeanet E. L. Sullivan, 154 East 74th St., New York City; John G. Agar, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Annie M. McClymonds, Morris Plains, N. J.; Madge D. Miller, 635 Park Av., New York City; Hoyt Miller, 635 Park Av., New York City; Katrina Trask, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:
 New York Trust Company, Trustee; Caroline E. Richmond, Horace E. Smith, Mrs. A. Loebenstein, Leo Wise, Trustees George Lauder Trust, Louis Wiley, Henry R. Hoyt, Miss Marie Theresa Kohn, Mrs. Gertrude O'Brien, Mrs. Louise W. Carnegie, Miss R. S. Hoyt, Mrs. R. E. Hoyt, George W. Oakes.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as Trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such Trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances under which stockholders and security holders, who do not appear upon the books of the company as Trustee, hold stock and securities, in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

CHARLES R. MILLER, Vice President.
 Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of April, 1921.
 [Seal.] Arnold Sanchez,
 Notary Public, New York Co., No. 24; New York Register's No. 2,378. Commission expires March 30, 1922.

Great boulder on which Burroughs played as a boy and which now stands behind the grave into which his coffin was lowered on a bed of green hemlock branches. A bronze plaque will be imbedded in the stone later on. To the right was a clump of woods where the great naturalist had gained his early knowledge of birds and animals. A few feet to one side was the little spring from which he often drank. The grave is only a short distance from the house in which Burroughs was born.
 (© Wide World Photos.)

One of the trumpeters of the Eighth United States Cavalry during guard mount ceremony at Fort Bliss, Texas. An innovation is the long trumpet with a single crook, giving an effect of a herald of mediaeval times rather than of an American Army trumpeter. The new trumpets are modeled after those in use by the French.
 (© Underwood & Underwood.)

NOTICE TO AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS:—The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL will pay $10 for the best photographic print of any big event in the United States or Canada of the week's news taken by an amateur photographer. The editors will make the choice. Any other submitted prints used will be paid for at $2 each. Prints not used will be returned only if postage is sent. Send the prints unmounted, any size. Address The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL, Room 1708, Times Building, Times Square, New York City.

00002

MID-WEEK PICTORIAL

VOL. XIII., NO. 7.

NEW YORK, APRIL 14, 1921.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

RENE VIVIANI, the silver-tongued orator of France and one of its most eminent statesmen, has come to the United States on a special mission, the exact nature of which has not been definitely disclosed. As put in diplomatic language, he has come to bear the greetings of the greatest republic of the Old World to the greatest republic of the New World and to pay his respects to President Harding. His stay here has been marked by great activity, and he has not only had a cordial interview with the President, but has also confirmed with Senators Lodge and Knox and other Congressional leaders. While doubtless the French indebtedness to this country has been more or less fully discussed, there is little doubt that the main subject of the conferences has been the question of the German reparations.

France has been very anxious to have the moral support of the American people and Government in her attempt to make Germany pay for the damages caused by the war up to the limit of the latter's ability.

RENE VIVIANI

Ex-Premier of France and Envoy of the French Republic, who arrived in the United States March 28 on a special mission.

(© Wide World Photos)

THIS had already been assured by this Government in a dispatch by Secretary of State Hughes to Loring Dresel, the American Commissioner at Berlin, in which the statement was made that this Government stands by the Allies on the proposition that Germany should acknowledge her responsibility for having caused the war and should pay up to the limit of her ability—a statement that has been greeted with pleasure by the French press and people. Although it was stated at Washington that this note was decided upon before the arrival of Viviani, the coincidence of its dispatch so soon after the coming of the latter is at least striking, and by his own countrymen some of the credit for it is attributed to Viviani's representations. He does not seem to have succeeded, however, in changing the Administration's apparent purpose not to subscribe to the League Covenant, however modified, nor to sign the Treaty of Versailles. It has been stated that one of the acts of the Sixty-seventh Congress will be to pass the Knox or a similar measure making a separate peace with Germany. Viviani has been assured, however, that a clause would be inserted in the treaty declaring to Germany and the world that the repetition of any attempt at world conquest would not be tolerated by this nation.

Men of Note in Diplomacy, Politics and Science

GEORGE HARVEY

Who, it is announced from Washington, has been chosen as Ambassador to Great Britain. He has been editor of The North American Review and Harper's Weekly and has taken a prominent part in politics.

(© U. &amp; U.)

JAMES COX DAVIS

of Iowa who has been appointed Director General of Railroads to succeed Judge John Barton Payne. At the time of his appointment Mr. Davis was general counsel of the railroad administration.

(© Harris &amp; Ewing.)

HUBERT WORK

Newly appointed First Assistant Postmaster General. He was President of the American Medical Association and Republican National Committeeman from Colorado. He served in the Medical Corps during the war.

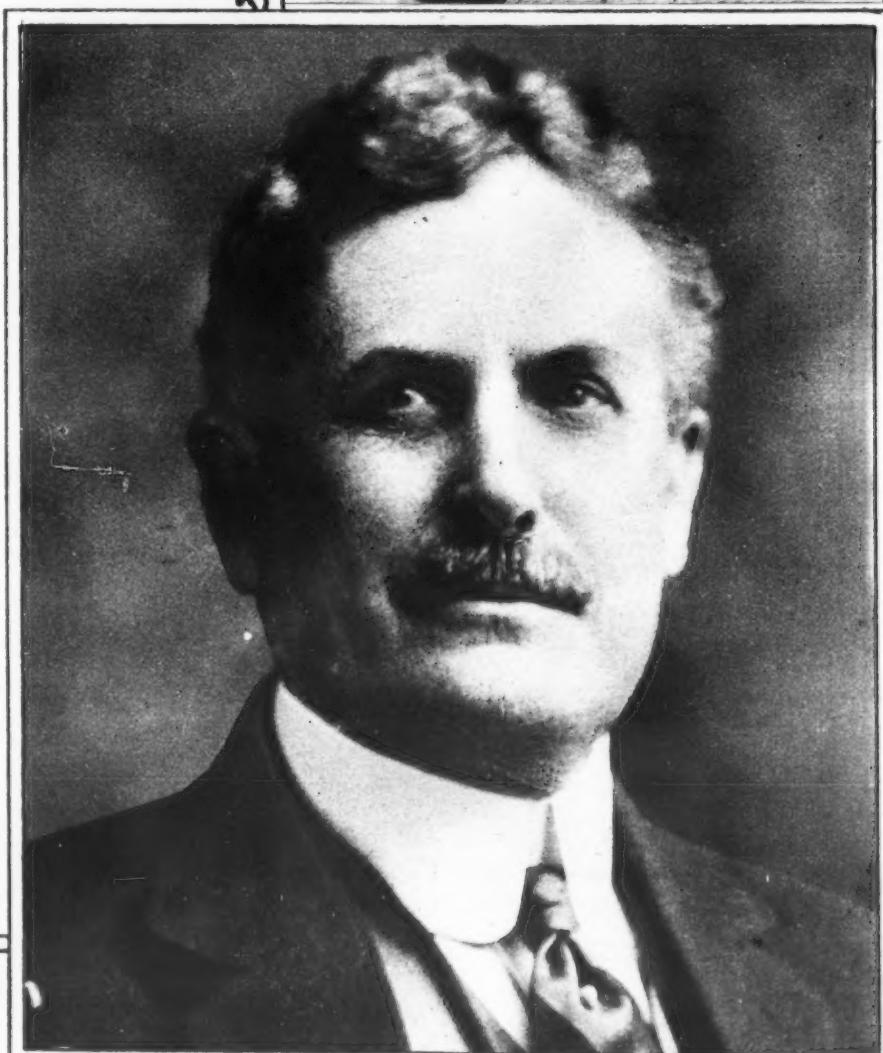

(© Harris &amp; Ewing.)

THE week has been prolific of interesting and important appointments under the new Administration. Chief among these have been the announcements that Colonel George Harvey would be appointed as Ambassador to London and that Myron Herrick would be made Ambassador to France. It appears that Great Britain has been sounded on the appointment of Colonel Harvey and has assured this Government that he would be persona grata. His literary culture preserves the tradition that has been associated with a long line of distinguished predecessors, while his wide acquaintance with public men and affairs will be a distinct asset in his new post. The appointment of Myron Herrick to be Ambassador to France will be very gratifying to the French, with whom he was extremely popular during his previous occupancy of the same position. Both appointments are of great importance in view of the many delicate and intricate questions that will come up for settlement with the Governments to which they are accredited.

PROF. EINSTEIN
Noted scientist whose theory of relativity has created a sensation in the scientific world. He arrived in this country on April 2 on a mission in the interest of the Zionist movement. While Professor Einstein has disclaimed the statement attributed to him that there were only twelve men in the world who were able to understand his theory, there is no doubt that it is a very intricate one. It has been widely discussed, but not universally accepted.

MYRON T. HERRICK

Who, it is announced, will be appointed as Ambassador to France. He had previously served in that capacity, and is very popular with the French, by whom the announcement of his appointment has been greeted with great satisfaction.

AXEL
F. WAL-LENBERG
Minister from Sweden to the United States. He has just arrived in Washington to take up the duties of his post.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

GEORGE H. CARTER
Former Iowa newspaper man who has been appointed by the President as Public Printer.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

SIR ROBERT
HORNE
Former President of the British Board of Trade, who has been appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer to succeed Austen Chamberlain.
(© International.)

CHARLES H. BURKE
of South Dakota, former member of Congress, who has been appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

THOMAS E.
ROBERTSON
of Chevy Chase, Md., who has been made Commissioner of Patents.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

LIEUT. COL.
C. O.
SHERRILL
Selected as Chief Military Aid to President Harding. He is a native of North Carolina, an honor graduate of West Point and an experienced engineer.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

Researches in New Mexico Reveal Details of Prehistoric Indian Culture

ON the outskirts of the town of Aztec, New Mexico, an excavating party sent out by the American Museum of Natural History of New York City has recently discovered a sealed underground ceremonial chamber or kiva, believed to have been the most sacred shrine of the prehistoric Indians of that locality. Many interesting relics have been unearthed which make the life and culture of the aborigines of that vicinity very real and vivid. The newly discovered room is in perfect condition, according to Dr. Clark Wissler, Curator of the Museum's Department of Anthropology, which is carrying on the work. The interior is plastered and painted in a brilliant white, with dull red side borders and a running series of triangular designs. No room of the kind approaching this one in beauty and perfection has ever before been discovered in America. It contains a rude stone altar, and a sacred serpent is carved in wood over the ceiling. The ruin as so far excavated is most impressive, revealing as it does, a full sweep over the immense complex of stone walls and quaint doorways.

Standing walls, 29 feet high, of the ruins of American prehistoric Indian building at Aztec, New Mexico.

Restored interior of the kiva, or underground ceremonial chamber, which is believed to have been the most sacred shrine of the Indians.

Entrance to the ceremonial chamber of the Pueblo Indians at Aztec, New Mexico, where many interesting relics of prehistoric life and culture have been discovered.
(Photos courtesy of American Museum of Natural History, New York.)

Veterans of the Baseball Diamond Who During Their

DEL PRATT

Last year's second baseman on the Yankee team, who has made 1,423 hits during his career.

THE opening of the baseball season this week finds both of the major leagues in good condition for the pennant race. Weak spots have been strengthened in all the teams, and the outlook for an exciting struggle is bright. It was feared that the regrettable scandal that developed last year would materially damage the game. But the confidence in the general honesty of the players is still strong, and the steps that have been taken to purge the game of the corrupt elements has proved reassuring. The White Sox have, of course, lost heavily in playing strength, but Comiskey and Gleason can be counted on to develop a team that will make things interesting for the leaders.

TRIS SPEAKER

Captain and centre fielder of the champion Clevelands, who has made 2,233 hits in his major league career.

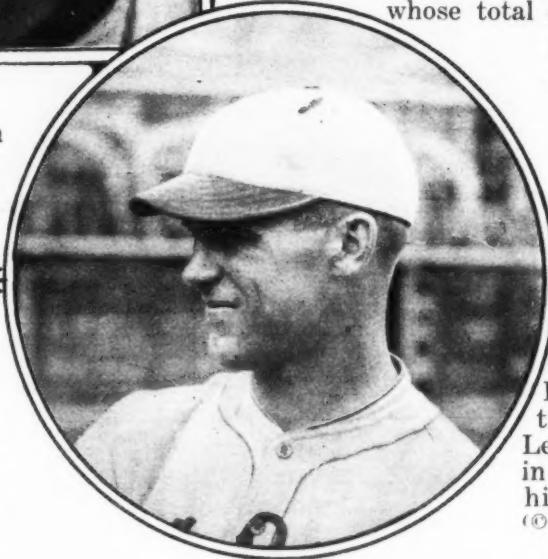

EDDIE COLLINS
Crack second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, who has made 2,180 hits.

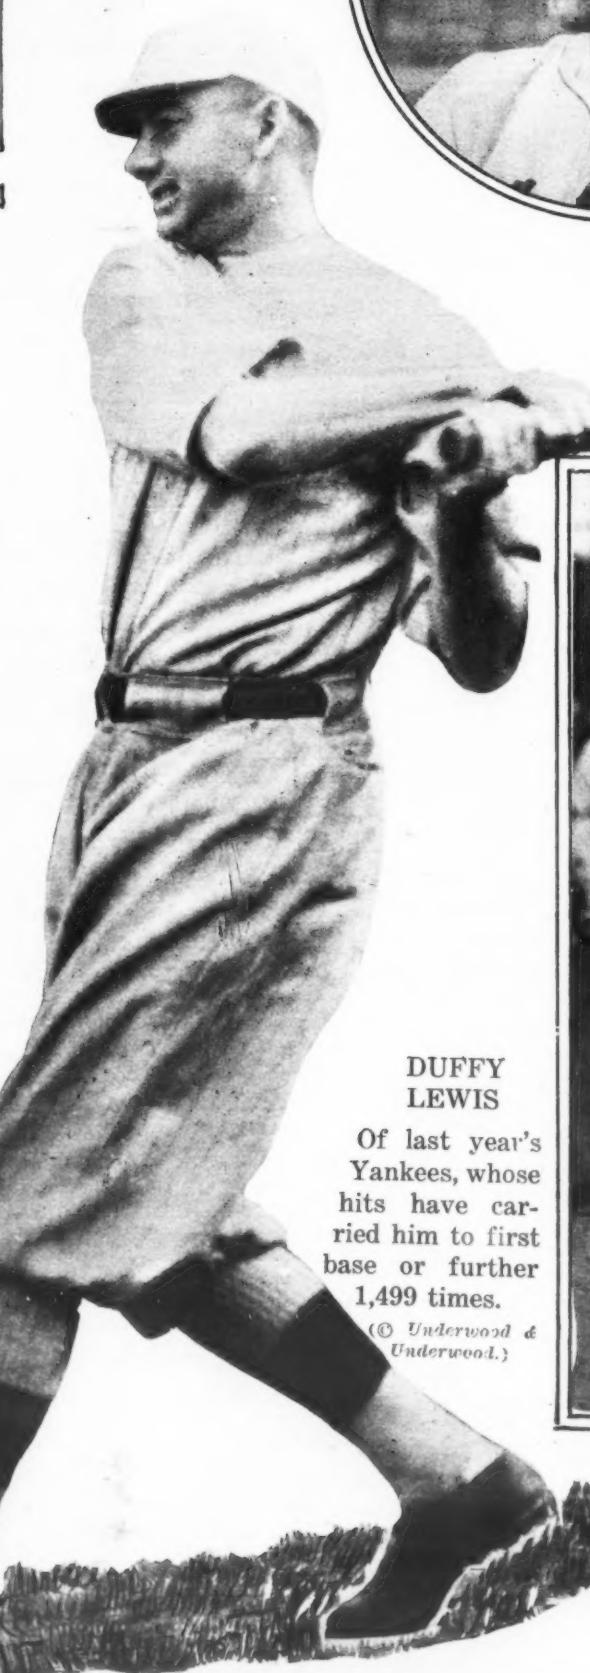

AMOS STRUNK
The "Old Reliable" of the Chicago, whose total of hits so far is 1,157.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

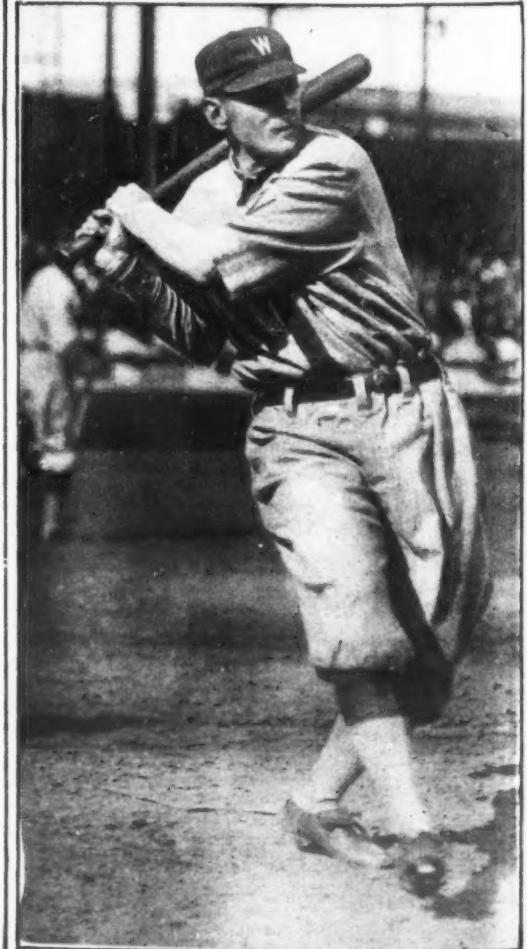

GEORGE SISLER
Of the St. Louis Browns, who led the American League last year in batting. His hits total 1,026.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

DUFFY LEWIS

Of last year's Yankees, whose hits have carried him to first base or further 1,499 times.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

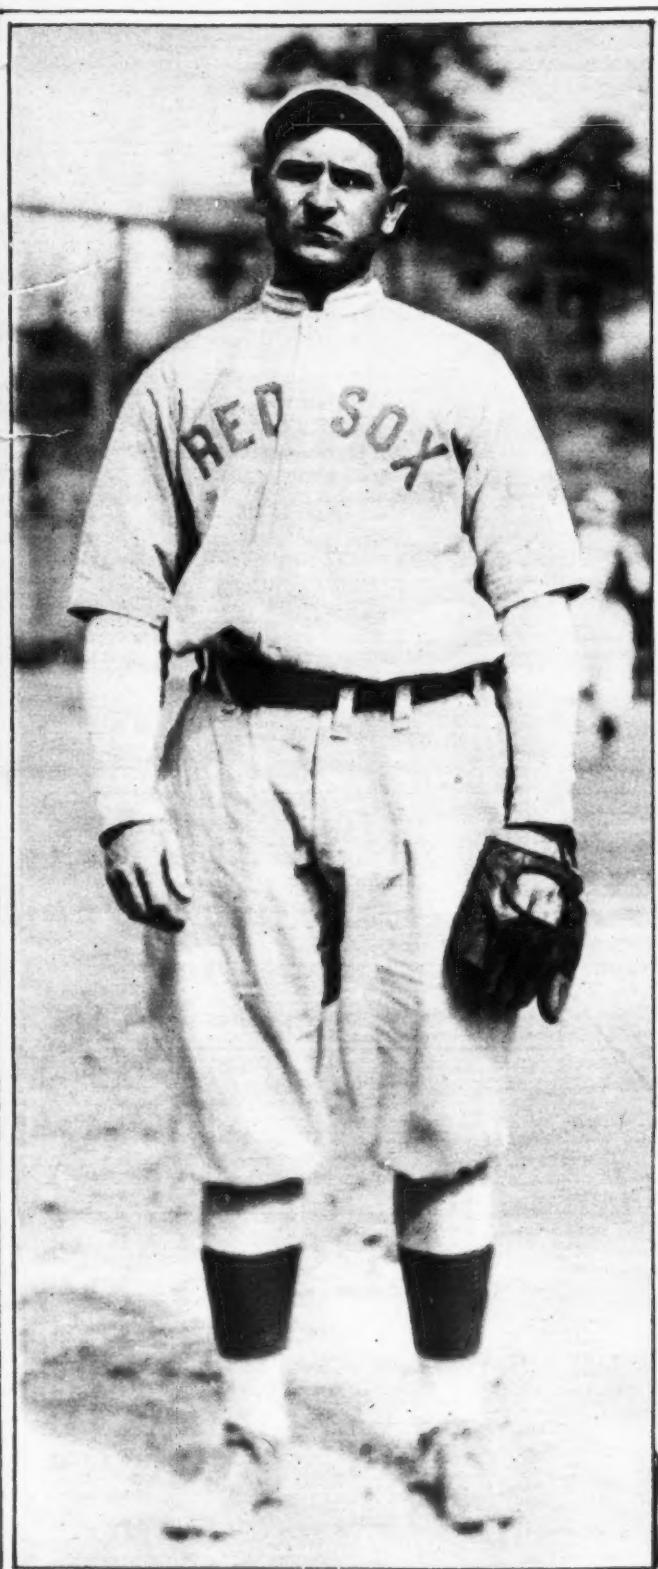

CLYDE MILAN

Of the Washingtons, who has accumulated 1,966 hits by his consistent batting.

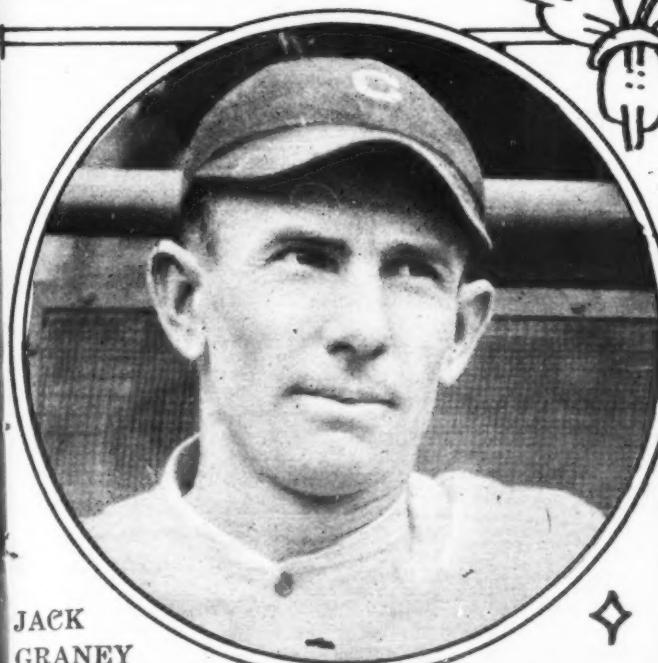

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Major League Careers Have Made Over a Thousand Hits

EDDIE FOSTER

Who is in the select class of batters, having made 1,288 hits

JACK GRANEY

Of the Clevelands, whose batting skill is attested by

1,137 hits.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

ROGER PECKINPAUGH

Shortstop of the Yankees, who has topped the thousand mark, his total being 1,051.

HARRY HOOPER

Sterling outfielder of the Red Sox last season, who has made 1,707 hits.

TY COBB

King of ball players, who has gathered in 2,858 hits during his career.

W. L. GARDNER

Third baseman of last year's Cleveland champions, whose hits total 1,577.

CLARENCE WALKER

Of the Philadelphia
National Leaguers,
who has gathered
1,064 hits.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Insuring the Health of the Coming Generation

Group of children awaiting examination at the "Mothers' Educational Centre" at Los Angeles, Cal. This has been established by a committee of physicians as a place where mothers can bring their infants for examination. The babies are carefully inspected and advice is given as to their care and treatment.

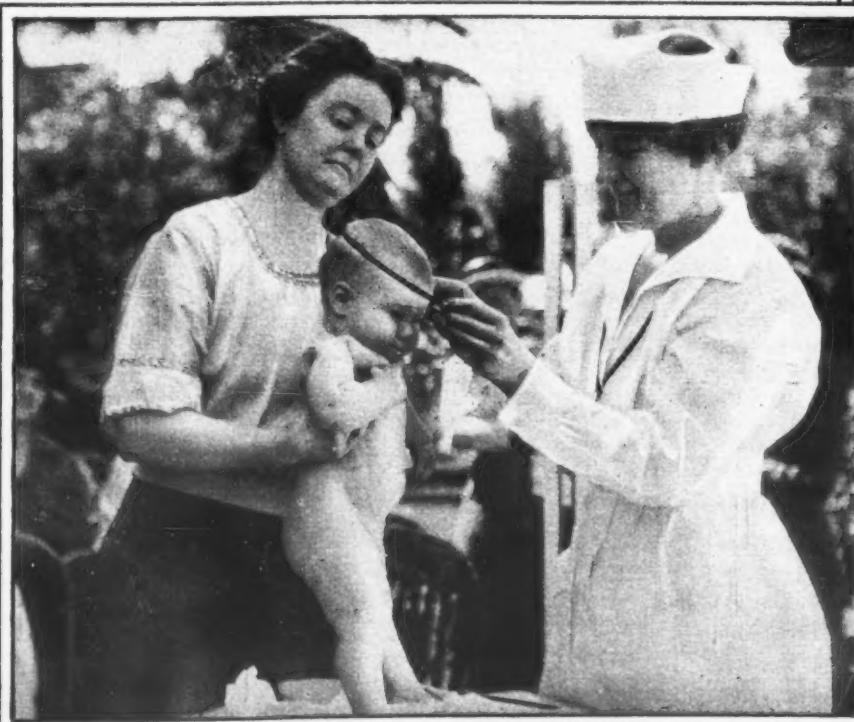

(Photos © Underwood & Underwood.)

Measuring the baby's waistline. The institution is not a clinic for the cure of sick infants, but an advisory centre that seeks to prevent the children from becoming sick by taking the necessary precautions in advance. The theory is that prevention is better than cure.

Weighing the baby. If the child falls short of the proper weight a course of treatment is prescribed that will correct the deficiency. If it is too heavy an appropriate regimen is suggested.

Getting the dimensions of the baby's skull. Mental as well as physical attributes may be thus determined or at least indicated. Prominent physicians throughout the country have proclaimed the work as a great step toward the development of a better race.

Determining the baby's height. A flat board with sliding end pieces is used. The measurement is taken while the baby is in a horizontal position, as more accurate results can thus be obtained. The Mothers' Educational Centre has steadily grown in popularity in Los Angeles, and movements are on foot to establish similar centres in other cities.

Grand National Race Replete With Spills and Thrills

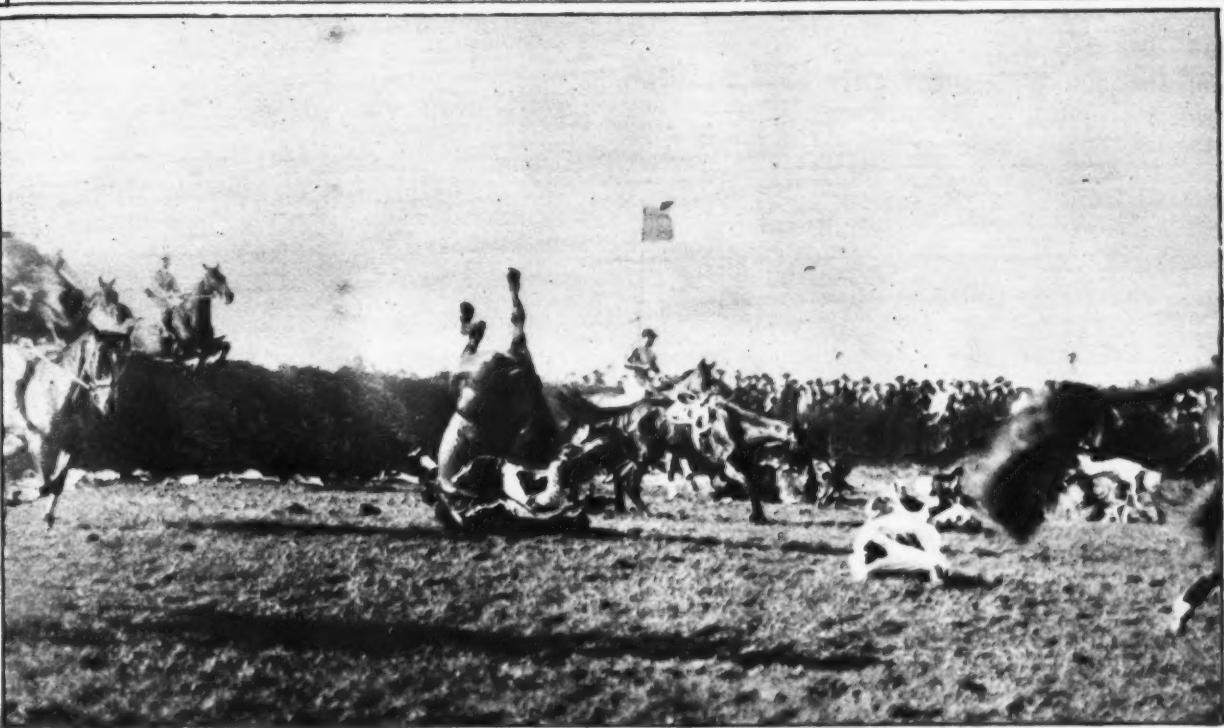

ONE of the most exciting and sensational races ever run in England or for that matter in any other country was the Grand National Steeplechase that took place at Aintree, Liverpool, March 18. The course was for four and a half miles and was an extremely difficult one. There were thirty-six contestants. Probably it was the large number of starters that contributed to the confusion that followed. At times there were half a dozen horses struggling on the ground with jockeys scrambling out of the way of the lunging hoofs. Three riders broke their collarbones and the crowd was so concerned about the accidents to horses and riders that the race itself was almost forgotten. The winner was Shaun Spadah, against whom the odds were 100 to 9.

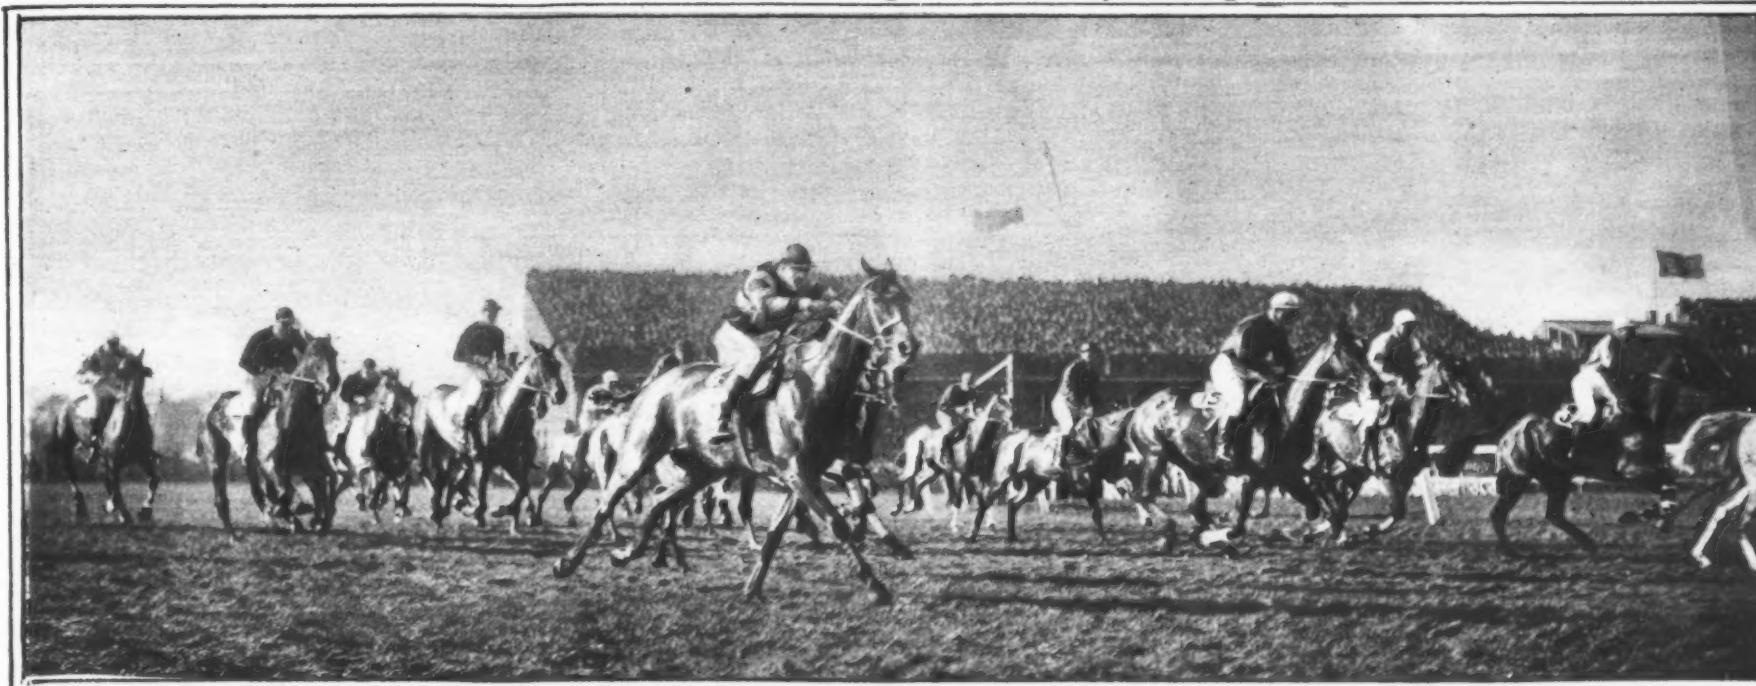

The McAlpine gelding Shaun Spadah, who won the Grand National Steeplechase over the four and one-half miles of the formidable Aintree course. He gained the victory over thirty-five competitors.
(© Central News.)

Vast throng of over two hundred thousand people who witnessed the Grand National race at Aintree, Liverpool, England, March 18. The race was a sensational one.
(© International.)

Probably one of the most remarkable photographs ever made of a mixup in a steeplechase race. Five horses with their jockeys have fallen at the first jump. The horse in the foreground is literally standing on his head.
(© International.)

Start of the race that narrowly escaped ending in a tragedy. There were thirty-six horses in the race, and of these thirty-five fell before the race was over. Only four finished the course and only the winner kept his feet throughout.
(© Central News.)

Notable News Happenings Gathered by the

SAN FRANCISCO,
CAL.

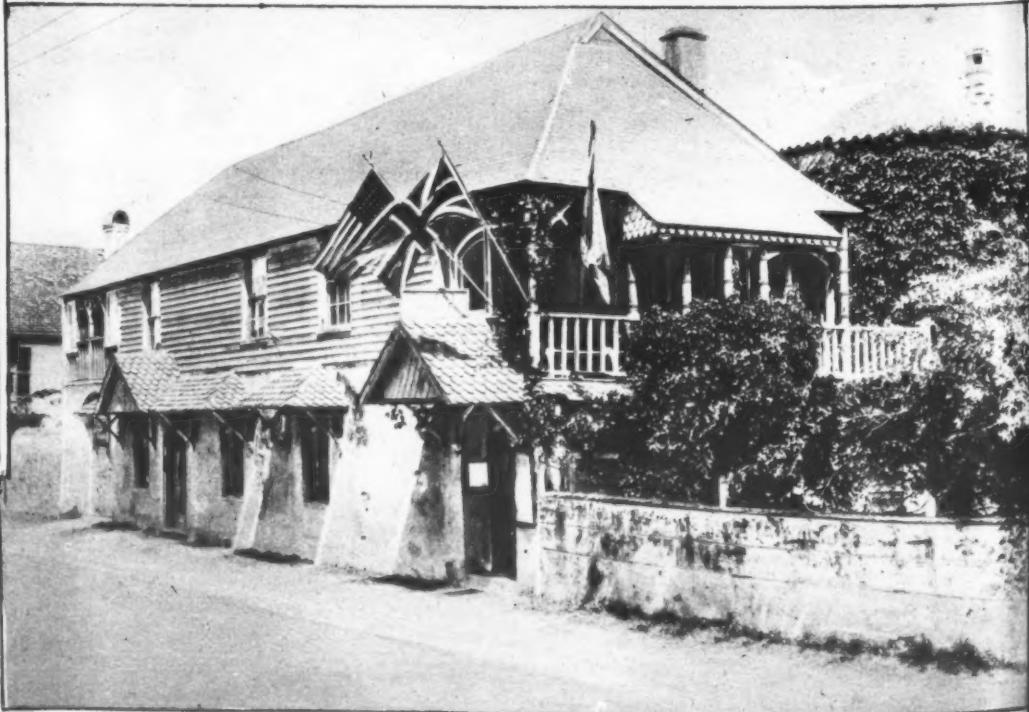

A rather unusual feature of Easter Sunday celebrations was the procession of Christian Chinese that passed through San Francisco's Chinatown on that date. Baptist, Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Episcopalian church missions organized the demonstration. There was a great variety of garments worn, ranging from American raiment to Oriental robes. A feature was the choral singing by young Chinese girls.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

CHICAGO, ILL.
A disaster involving great loss of life occurred in Chicago recently, when an explosion of about two tons of powder and a mass of fireworks laid a block of business houses in the vicinity of South Halstead and Barber Streets in ruins. Six men and two women were killed and about 100 persons wounded more or less seriously. The explosion is said to have occurred in a warehouse in the rear of 1,429 South Halstead Street. The matter is under investigation by the authorities.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

AKRON, OHIO
Set of horseshoes to be presented to President Harding April 11 by the Buckeye Horseshoe Pitching Association of Ohio. One pair is finished in copper and the other in nickel. The President is fond of the game.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA.
Oldest house in the United States, erected in 1565 by Franciscan monks. It was recently purchased by the St. Augustine Historical Society.
(© Gilligan Service.)

the Camera From All Parts of the United States

NEW YORK CITY

Alexander Milne, a "wee laddie" from Scotland, who is held at Ellis Island, where his father and mother have been prohibited from entering the country because of physical defects. The boy is a remarkable singer and mimic, and is styled a "diamond edition" of Harry Lauder. (© International.)

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Motorcycle fire engine, which Milwaukee has been the first American city to adopt. At a recent fire this machine was on the scene before the man who turned in the alarm could return to his house. Equipped with eight extinguishers, the two firemen flew to the fire and put out the blaze before the larger apparatus could get to the spot. (© Gilliams Service.)

NEW YORK CITY

Mrs. Catherine Dunn, mother of the late Captain George Dunn, one of the boys of the 77th Division who fell in the war, planting a memorial oak on the Mall in Central Park April 3, 1921. Survivors of Company F, 307th Infantry, 77th Division, attended the services, which were marked with pathos and solemnity. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

WASHINGTON,
D. C.

Military salute to the remains of the late Sir Moses Ezekiel, sculptor, musician and soldier, who died in Rome in 1917. The body was brought to Washington and buried on March 30, 1921, at the foot of the Confederate Monument, which he designed, and which stands in Arlington Cemetery. (© Harris & Ewing.)

Return of Ex-Emperor Charles to Hungary Ended

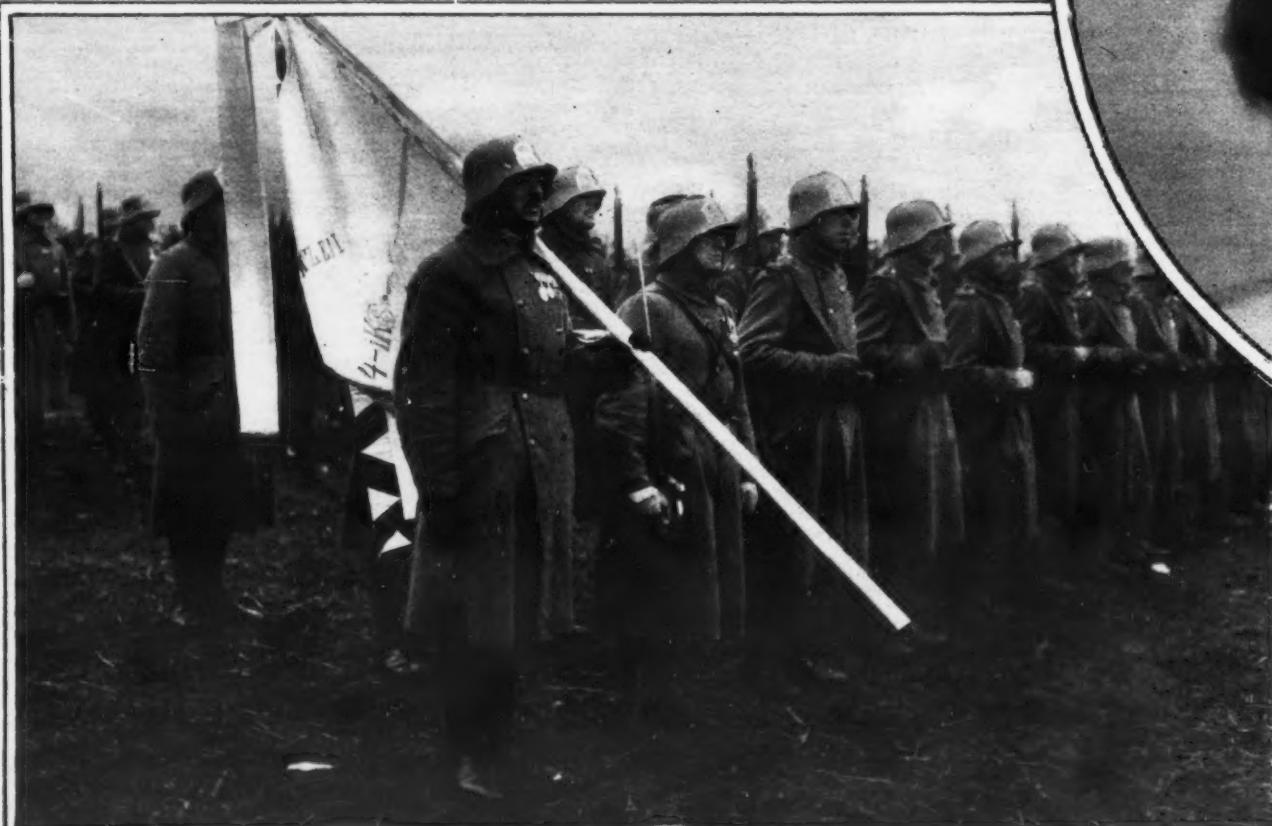

Ex-Emperor Charles of Austria watching his two little sons and his small daughter fishing in the grounds of the Villa Prangins, near Lake Geneva, Switzerland, the home of the former royal family in exile. The ex-Crown Prince Otto is seen seated. The Archduchess Adelheid is on the left and Prince Felix on the right.

Statue of West Hungary defending its youth.

A GREAT sensation was during the last days unexpected appearance of Emperor Charles in Hungary to regain the throne. He left Prangins, Switzerland, 25 and slipped over the border into his kingdom, appearing in Stettin town on the border. He expected a national uprising but his hopes were doomed. Some of the army officers of Hungary were drawn by the people in general to his side. His failure was hastened by the fact that the Allied Powers would not permit his restoration by action of the "Little Entente." Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia who announced that they would not go on Hungary if he were made to Horthy, the Protector. The power to Charles was always with the ex-Emperor, broken in spirit after his attempt and returned to Switzerland.

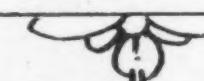

The new Hungarian Army, with the flag that has been recently adopted as the national emblem. It was expected by Charles that the army would rally to his support.

Map showing the countries surrounding Hungary whose intervention caused failure of attempt.

PRINCE OTTO

Former heir to the Austrian-Hungarian throne. He is now eight years old. The ex-Emperor Charles sought to have him formally declared entitled to the crown of Hungary.

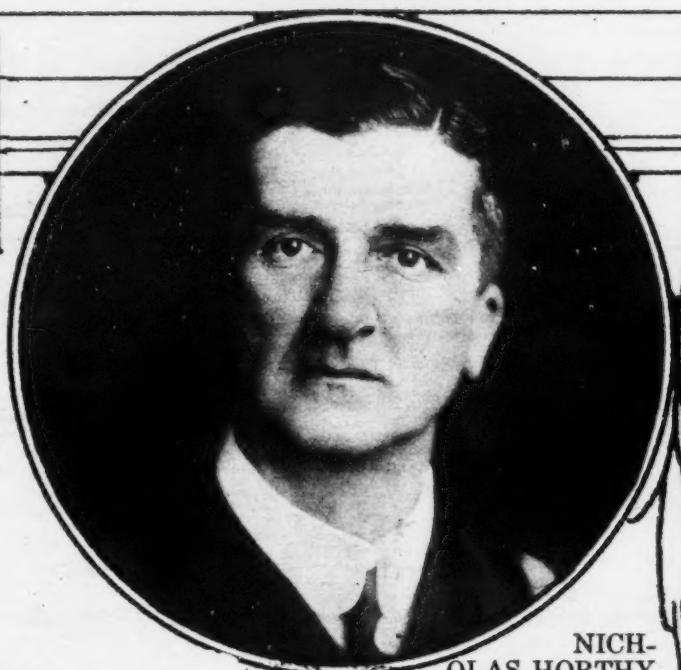

COUN
One of the visited Char
wi

Ex-Emperor Charles y Ends in a Fiasco

A GREAT sensation was created in Europe during the last days of March by the unexpected appearance of the ex-Emperor Charles in Hungary, in an attempt to regain the throne. It appears that Charles left his refuge in Switzerland, secretly on March 28, slipped over the border into his former kingdom, appearing in Steinamanger, a little town on the border. He had doubtless expected a national uprising in his favor, but his hopes were doomed to disappointment. Many of the army officers and prominent men of Hungary were drawn to his side, but the people in general remained apathetic. His return was hastened also by the warning given by the Allied Powers that they would not permit his restoration, and also by the members of the "Little Entente," composed of France, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia, who announced that they would declare war on Hungary if he were made King. An appeal by Horthy, the Protector, to relinquish his claim to the throne was also denied, and the Emperor, broken in spirit, relinquished his claim and returned in defeat to Switzerland.

Statue of the South protecting Hungarian lands.

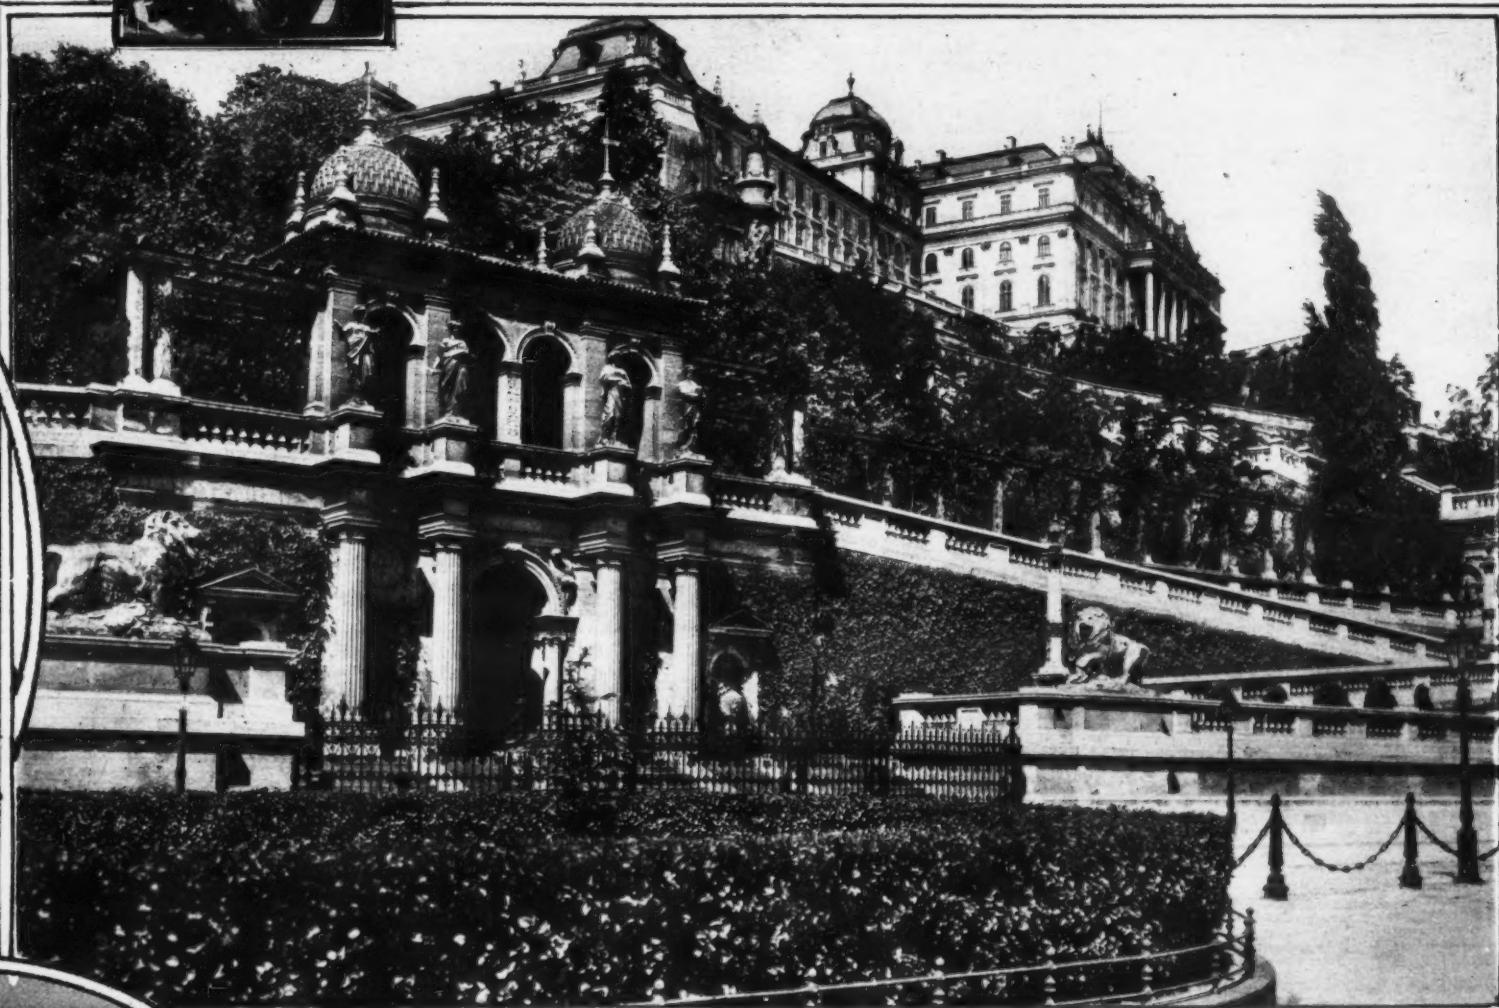

NICHOLAS HORTHY
Protector of Hungary, a monarchist in principle, but who refused the pleading of Charles to be permitted to take the throne.

GENERAL LEHAR

Commander of the West Hungarian Army, who favored the return of Charles to the throne, but resigned his command when the attempt ended in failure.

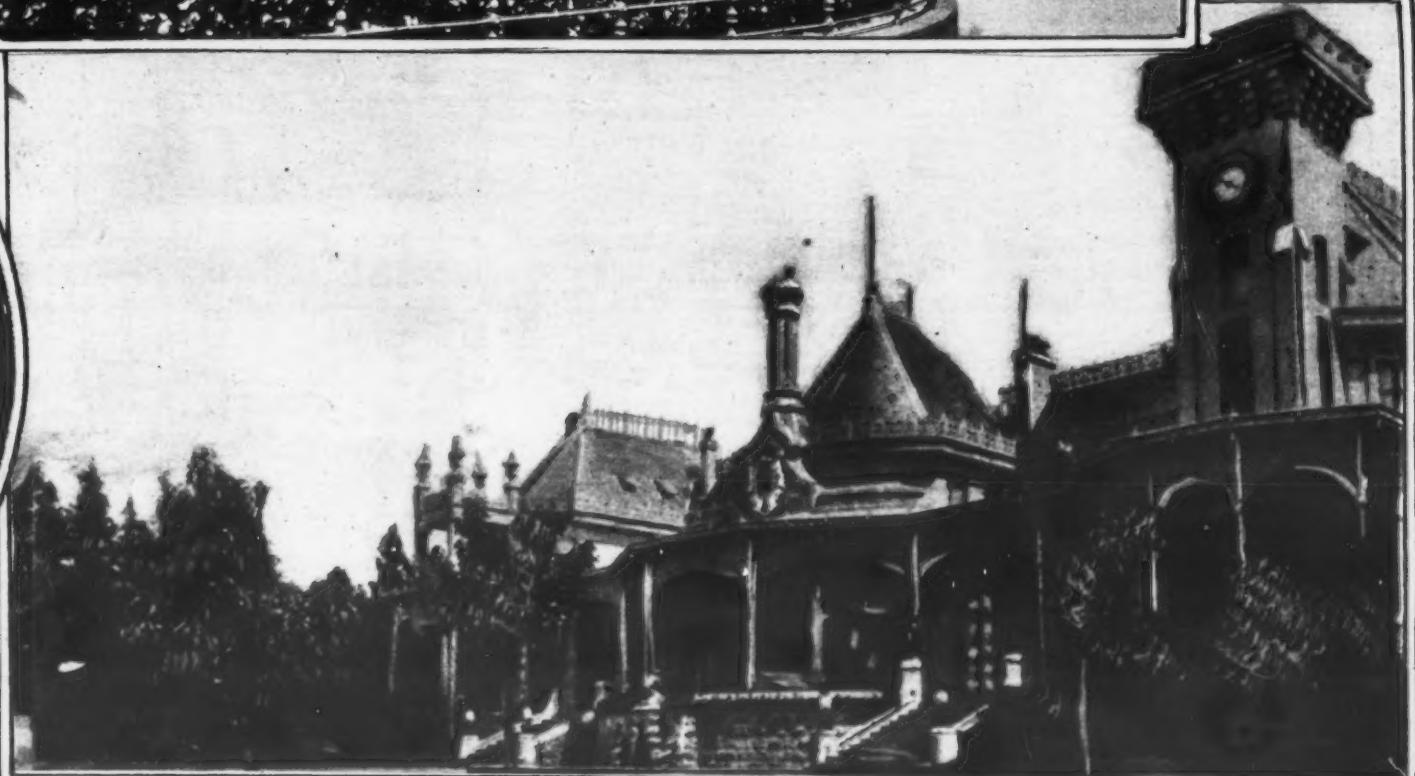

Royal palace at Budapest, now occupied by Protector Nicholas Horthy. It was there that occurred the interview between Charles and Horthy that lasted for three hours. The latter was firm, however, and refused to yield.

COUNT JULIUS ANDRÁSSY

One of the leading Hungarian statesmen who visited Charles at Steinamanger and sought to win adherents to his cause.

The Villa of Prangins on the shores of Lake Geneva, which has been the home of the Austrian royal exiles since their downfall. Here the former Emperor and Empress have lived in retirement, educating their children. Whether Charles will now be permitted to live there is doubtful.

Events of Interest and Importance in Mexico,

NEAR-TRAGEDY IN MEXICO CITY

Narrow escape from death of the great Spanish bullfighter, Sanchez Mejias, in a recent exhibition at the Mexican capital. He was caught on the horns of a bull while attempting to place a pair of banderillas in the animal's neck. Thousands of spectators held their breath at the imminence of a tragedy, but the daring matador escaped without fatal injuries and was borne from the ring by his comrades.

(Photo from Godoy.)

WASHINGTON STATUE UNDER MEXICAN SKIES

This notable statue of George Washington stands in one of the most beautiful quarters of Mexico City. It was presented to the American colony in Mexico by a number of wealthy Americans during the Mexican Centennial in 1910. It was unveiled by the late President Porfirio Diaz, and ever since that time it has been profusely decorated with wreaths and flowers on Washington's Birthday.

(Photo from Godoy.)

RINGING SIX BELLS

This is the name applied to a Swiss custom that takes place in the Spring of every year at Zurich, Switzerland. In the public square a great pole is erected, on the top of which is a dummy figure representing Winter, whose reign is over. A large mass of combustibles is heaped about the pole and the dummy is burned to the accompaniment of the ringing of bells and much popular jubilation. It is the survival of an old heathen custom.

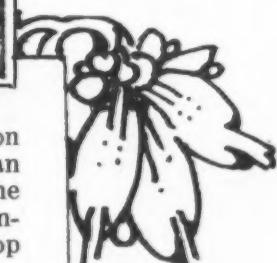

(© Wide World Photos.)

PRESIDENT HARDING'S INAUGURATION CELEBRATED IN HUNGARY

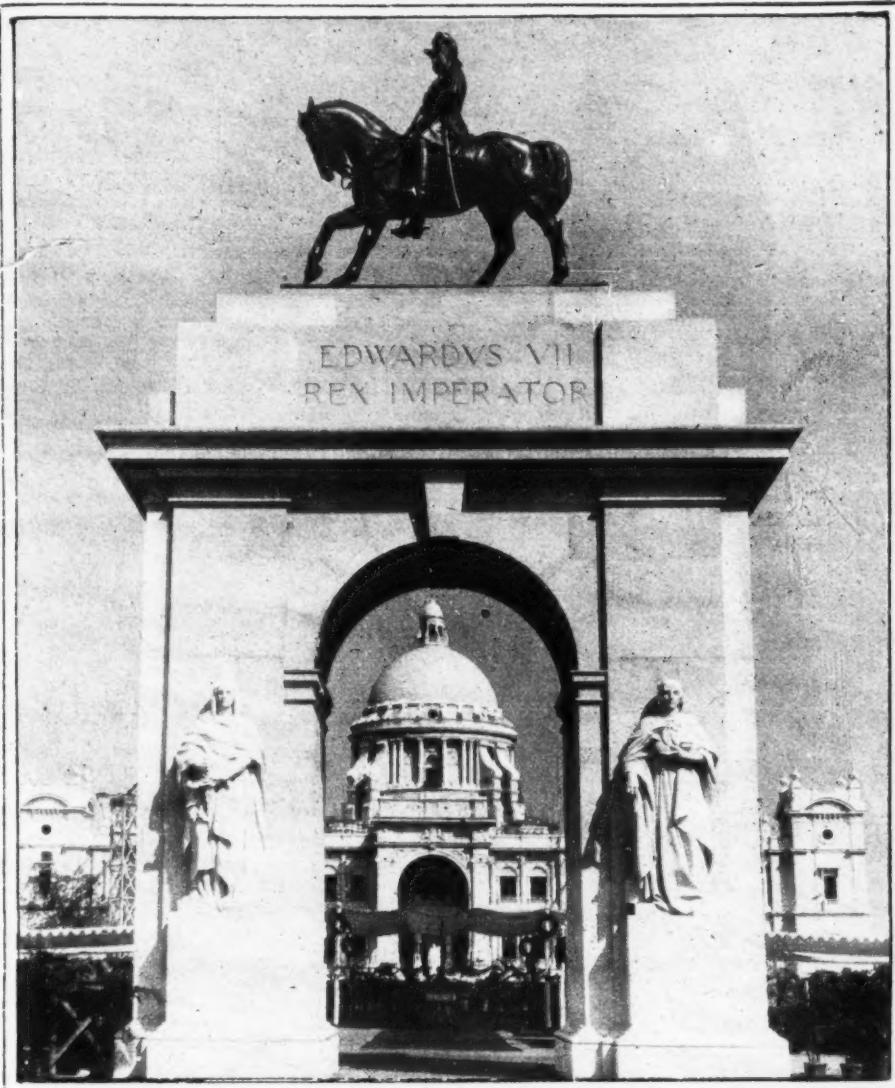

Thirty thousand men, women and children joined in a great demonstration in Budapest, Hungary, on the day that President Harding was inaugurated at Washington. The American flag, the Hungarian tricolor and the yellow, red and blue flag of Budapest hung from banners across the street from the National Museum. Captain James Pedlow of New York, American Red Cross Commissioner to Hungary, was in charge of the celebration. The "Star-Spangled Banner" was played and the Military Bishop of Hungary made the principal address.

(© Kadel & Herbert.)

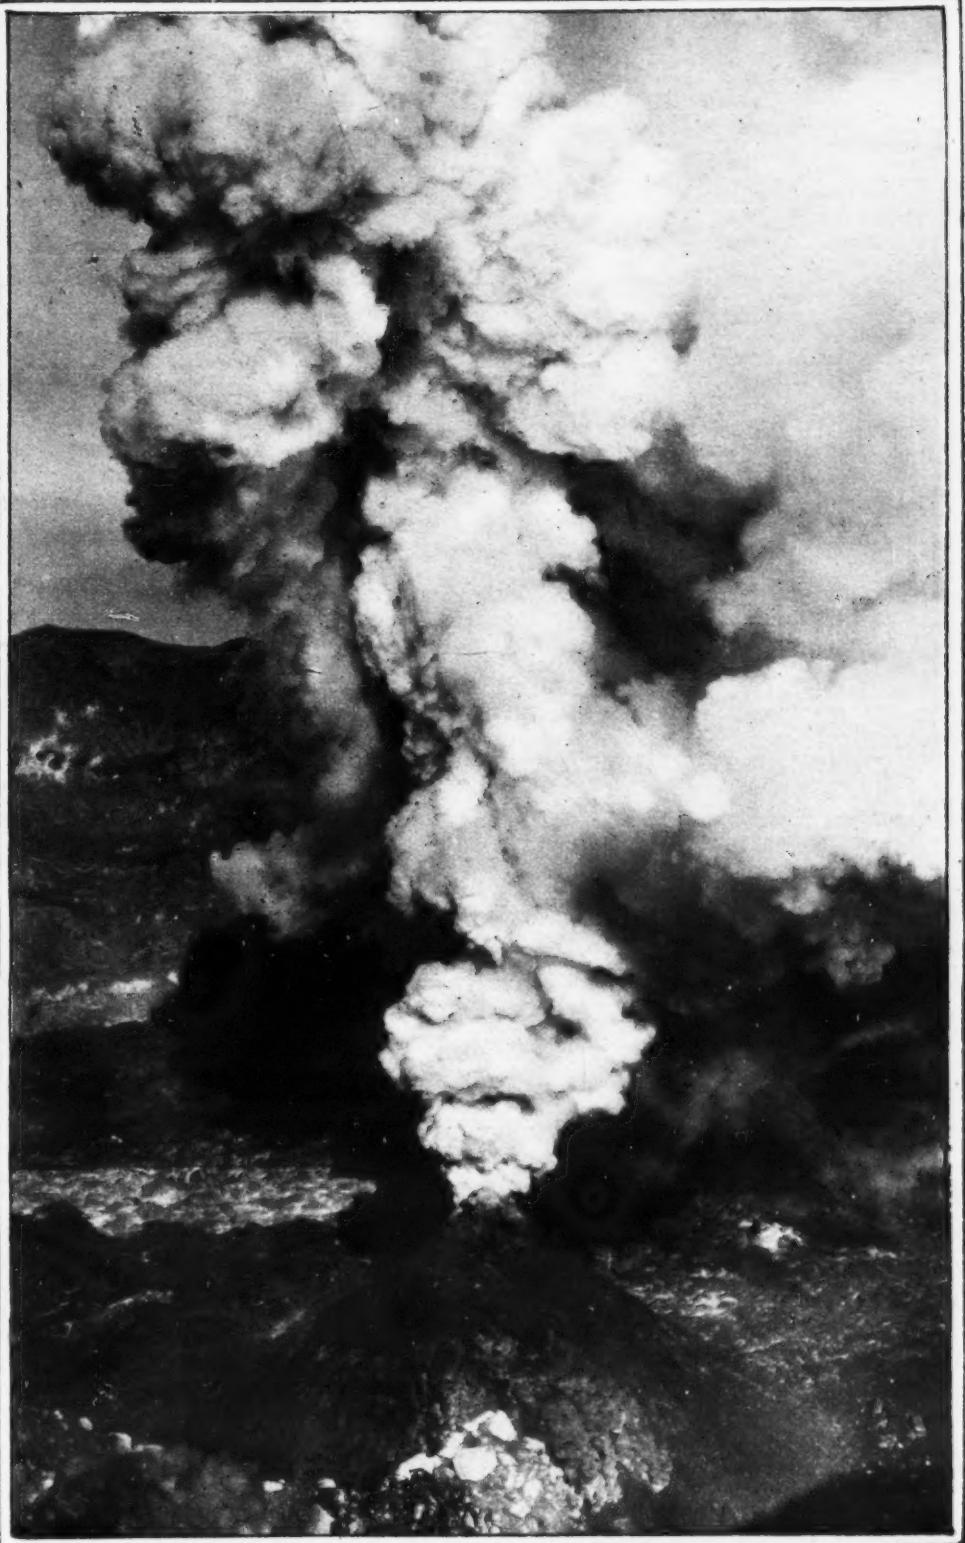

co,

Canada and the Continents of Europe and Asia

IMPOSING MEMORIAL ARCH UNVEILED AT CALCUTTA
The Victoria Memorial Arch has recently been unveiled at Calcutta, India, by the Duke of Connaught. It was donated by King George V., and is surmounted by an equestrian statue of the late King Edward VII., the father of the reigning King. It is an imposing structure, through which can be seen the Government buildings.

(© Wide World Photos.)

VESUVIUS BELCHING FORTH GAS AND FLAME

This unusual photograph of Mount Vesuvius in eruption has just reached the United States. It was made from a nearby mountain top by Captain Ariel Vargas. The volcano is again active and the flow of molten lava has already spread for many miles. The residents of the hamlets around the base are said to be cowering in fear lest the devastation of past years should be repeated.

(© International)

DISMANTLING OF FERRIS WHEEL

This great wheel, which for so long a time has been one of the striking features of Paris, is now being stripped of its gondolas, which are to be used as temporary huts in the devastated regions of France.

(© Keystone View Co.)

COPPER SMELTER BURNED

The world-famous Britannia mine, on the coast of British Columbia, the greatest copper producer in the empire, was destroyed by fire on March 21. The fire was caused by a short circuit in the motor system. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

(Amateur photo from Francis Dickie.)

Persons and Fashions of Special Interest to Women

MME. CURIE

Famous French scientist whose claim to immortality is built on her joint discovery with her husband of radium, which has accomplished so much in the medical world. She will visit this country shortly, and American women are raising a fund of $100,000 with which to buy and present to her a gift of radium.

(© Gilliams Service.)

AFTERNOON
FROCK

A simple but chic costume worn by Miss Constance Binney. It is made of apricot yellow crepe de chine, with accordion pleated wings and a tight underskirt, shorter than the pleated panels.

MME.
AINE
MOUROUX
Who has recently been awarded the Prix de Rome for medallists, the first time it has been won by a woman since it was founded in 1666. She is now exhibiting her work in New York.
(© Paul Thompson.)

MRS. L. M. SPENCER
Known affectionately as "Aunt Dolly," who has just been elected Mayor of Milford, Ohio, the first of her sex to be chosen for that office in the State.
(© Gilliams Service.)

DAINTY COSTUME
Made of cream chiffon, hand painted, sprays of flowers being scattered carelessly about. Its texture is soft and airy. It has no trimming except a bow of flowered ribbon. Worn by Miss Elmer Decker.
(Photo by Old Masters.)

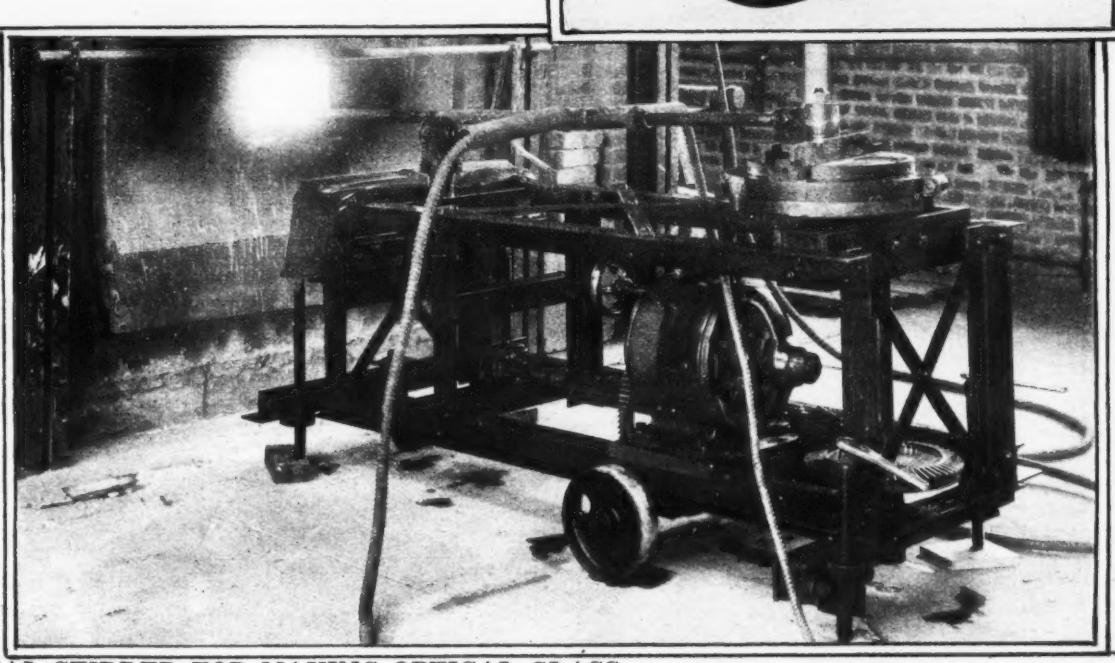

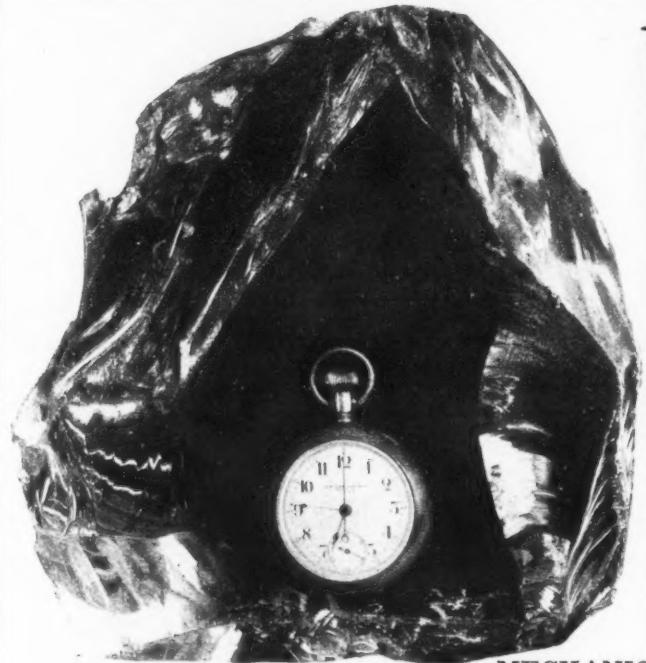

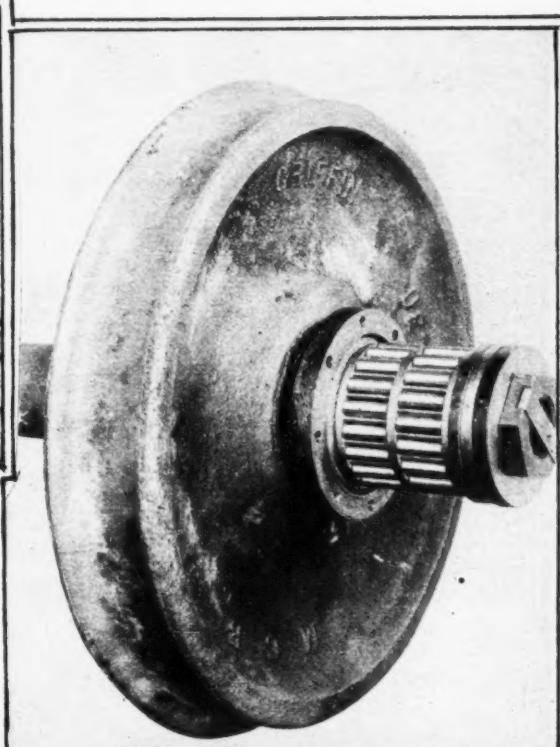

00016

Scientific Contributions to Human Progress

NEW INVENTION THAT REDUCES FRICTION 90 PER CENT.
In the picture above a man is pushing a load of sixteen tons with one hand. Ordinarily it would take sixteen men to do the work. This remarkable result is achieved by the use of the device seen at the right, the invention of Leo K. Stafford. It consists of a new bearing attached to the axle, which, it is claimed, reduces the friction 90 per cent. The inventor declares that it can be used on shafting of all kinds, motor trucks, street cars and similar vehicles.

(© Gilliams Service.)

MECHANICAL STIRRER FOR MAKING OPTICAL GLASS.

The machine at right, recently designed and built by the United States Bureau of Standards, has for its aim the displacement of human hands by mechanical action in stirring of glass, preliminary to its manufacture into optical equipment. When the glass is stirred by hand the stirring rod will frequently come into contact with the side of the pot, and from this slip will result streaks in the glass that either destroy its value or make it decidedly inferior. By the machine in question the stirrer is so circumscribed in its performance as never to touch the pot. A horizontal motion is given the mechanical stirring rod that forces it through the volume of glass. How transparent and perfect is the glass produced by the mechanical method is shown by the picture at left. There the watch is seen through four inches of glass with such clearness that one might well believe that the view of the watch was unobstructed by any object.

(Photos from S. R. Winters.)

PONTOON TO SALVAGE SUNKEN SHIPS.

Saliger resilient collapsible pontoon which is to be used to salvage the Spalding yacht Iris, which was sunk off the Florida coast. The pontoon is collapsible. One is let down flat on each side of the ship, attached, then inflated until its buoyancy lifts the ship.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

PORTABLE DRAG SAW FOR LOGGING OPERATIONS

This saw, whose lightness permits its operation and removal from one cut to another by one man, has already demonstrated its value in the logging operations of the Pacific Northwest. It is equipped with a four horsepower two-cycle gasoline engine, and at a cost of four cents a cord for gasoline oil batteries, from twenty to thirty cords of wood can be cut in a ten-hour day. It will rip through a two-foot log in fifty seconds.

(Photo from S. R. Winters.)

Actresses in Spoken and Silent Drama and Striking

"NEMESIS"
Dramatic scene from Act III. in Augustus Thomas's new play, in which the murder of the erring wife is revealed. Ben Kallan (Emmett Corrigan) has killed his wife Marcia (Olive Tell) and by means of finger prints adroitly obtained has placed her lover under suspicion as the murderer. Officer Conlon (Robert Cumming) has just entered.
(© White Studio.)

HELEN RICH
Playing one of the principal parts in the musical extravaganza "Tip Top."
(Photo by Ira D. Schwarz.)

HELEN MONTROSE
California girl who plays the part of the vampire in
"The Right Girl."
(Photo by Old Masters.)

"DREAM STREET"
Carol Dempster as Gypsy Faire and Edward Pell as Sway Wan in D. W. Griffith's photoplay production "Dream Street." The Prince is telling Gypsy that he will make her his bride.
(Photo by Victor Georg.)

Scenes From Current Theatrical Productions

"THE QUEEN OF SHEBA"
Scene of Oriental splendor in Jerusalem when the Queen of Sheba (Betty Blythe) is received by King Solomon at his court. The Eastern magnificence of the royal palace is impressively portrayed.

ELSIE MACKAY
Leading woman for Lionel Atwill in the Belasco production of "Deburau," a comedy from the French of Sacha Guitry, adapted by Granville Barker.
(Photo by Nickolas Muray.)

"SENTIMENTAL TOMMY"
Gripping scene from the photoplay based on Barrie's famous work in which Grizel (May McAvoy) regains her reason to find that for two years she has been married to Tommy (Gareth Hughes). She begs to be permitted to free him by leaving him.

Five-Room Bungalow Built in An Eight-Hour Day

THE acuteness of the housing situation in Chicago has led to various attempts at solution. One of the latest and perhaps the most important of these is shown by the pictures on this page. The Lumbermen's Association of Chicago undertook to show how quickly and at what a moderate cost a building could be completed and ready for occupancy, and gave themselves one day in which to accomplish the task. The cost of the house was placed at $3,500, and the main design was to show that it was possible for any workingman in moderate circumstances to own his own home. The work began in the morning, and by 4:30 in the afternoon it was completed. This included siding, shingling, flooring, lathing and plastering. The work was done in a thorough manner, and excellence was not sacrificed to speed. The house will be held open for thirty days for inspection, and it is expected that it will give a decided stimulus to building operations. In some features it is reminiscent of the barn-raising operations of the earlier days.

Site of a five-room bungalow, located at 6754 Claremont Street, Chicago, Ill., that was begun in the morning and completed in the afternoon of the same day. Before night it was ready for occupancy.

(Photos © International.)

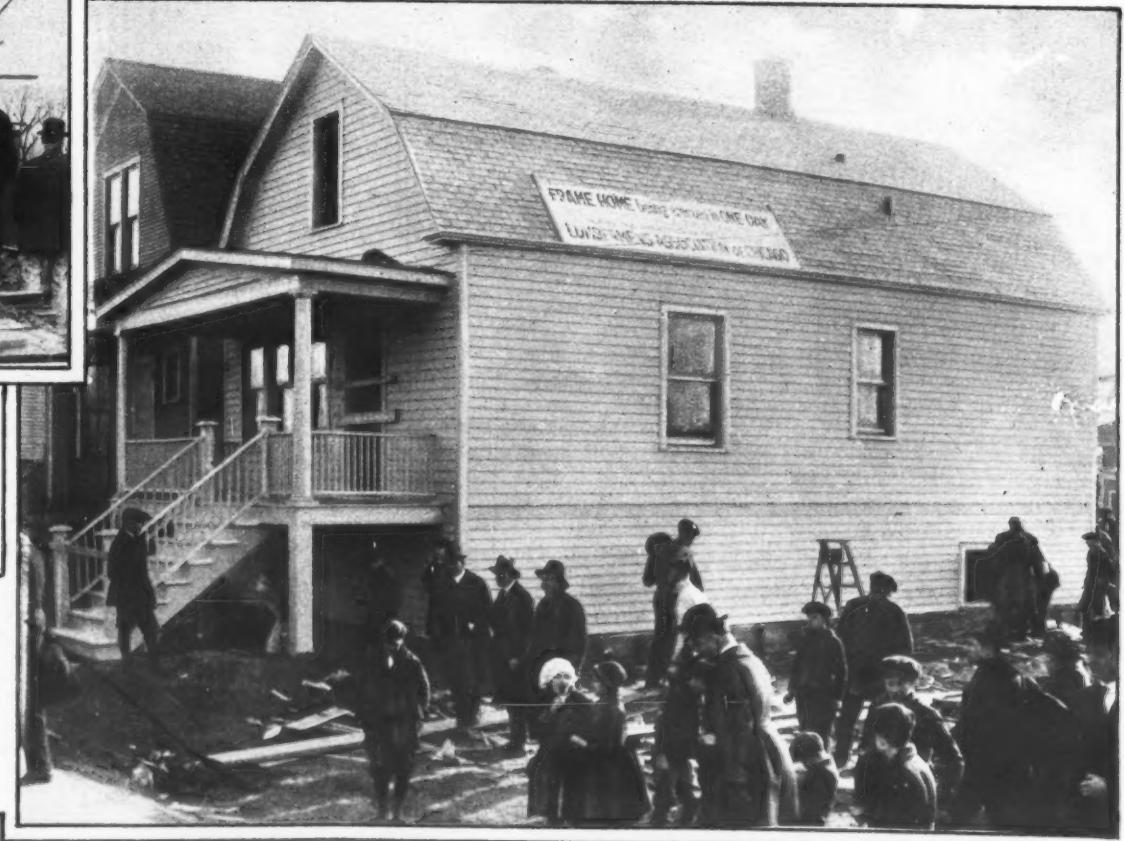

First stage in the building of the house that was erected in a single day. The men worked at top speed to achieve the work in time.

Boarding in the sides of the bungalow, with men swarming all over the structure. It was not merely a "freak" experiment, but had as its design to show what could be accomplished in relieving the housing situation.

Appearance of the building at about the hour of noon. By that time the whole of the lower floor had been boarded in and the workmen were busy in the attic. Nothing was shirked and the house was substantially built.

How the house looked when it was completed. By 4:30 in the afternoon the last nail had been driven and the workmen were preparing to depart. The stoop and porch, as well as the house proper, had been wholly finished.

U. S. Fleet at Battle Practice at Guantanamo Bay

THE new Secretary of War, Edwin Denby, has had an opportunity to become acquainted with some of the officers and men under his command during his recent visit to the fleet which has been engaged in battle practice and manoeuvres at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. He is not a novice in naval matters, having had actual experience as a marine and having served on the Committee on Naval Affairs during his three terms in Congress. The practice has been thorough and arduous and the results obtained have been very gratifying to the naval authorities and show that the fleet has reached a high state of efficiency. Additions to the fleet continue to be made steadily, as is evidenced by the recent launchings of the Colorado and the Milwaukee, the former one of our mightiest dreadnoughts and the latter one of the ten scout cruisers authorized by the navy program. The latter combines the speed of a destroyer with the fighting qualities of a battleship.

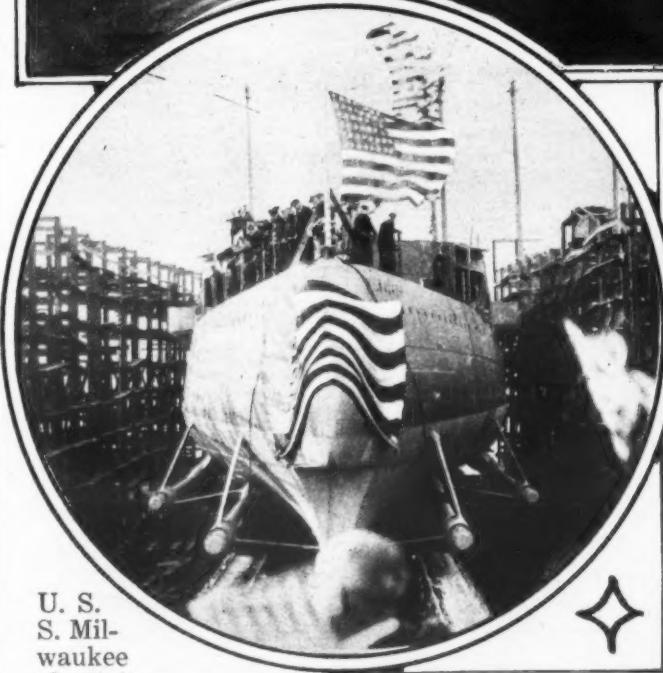

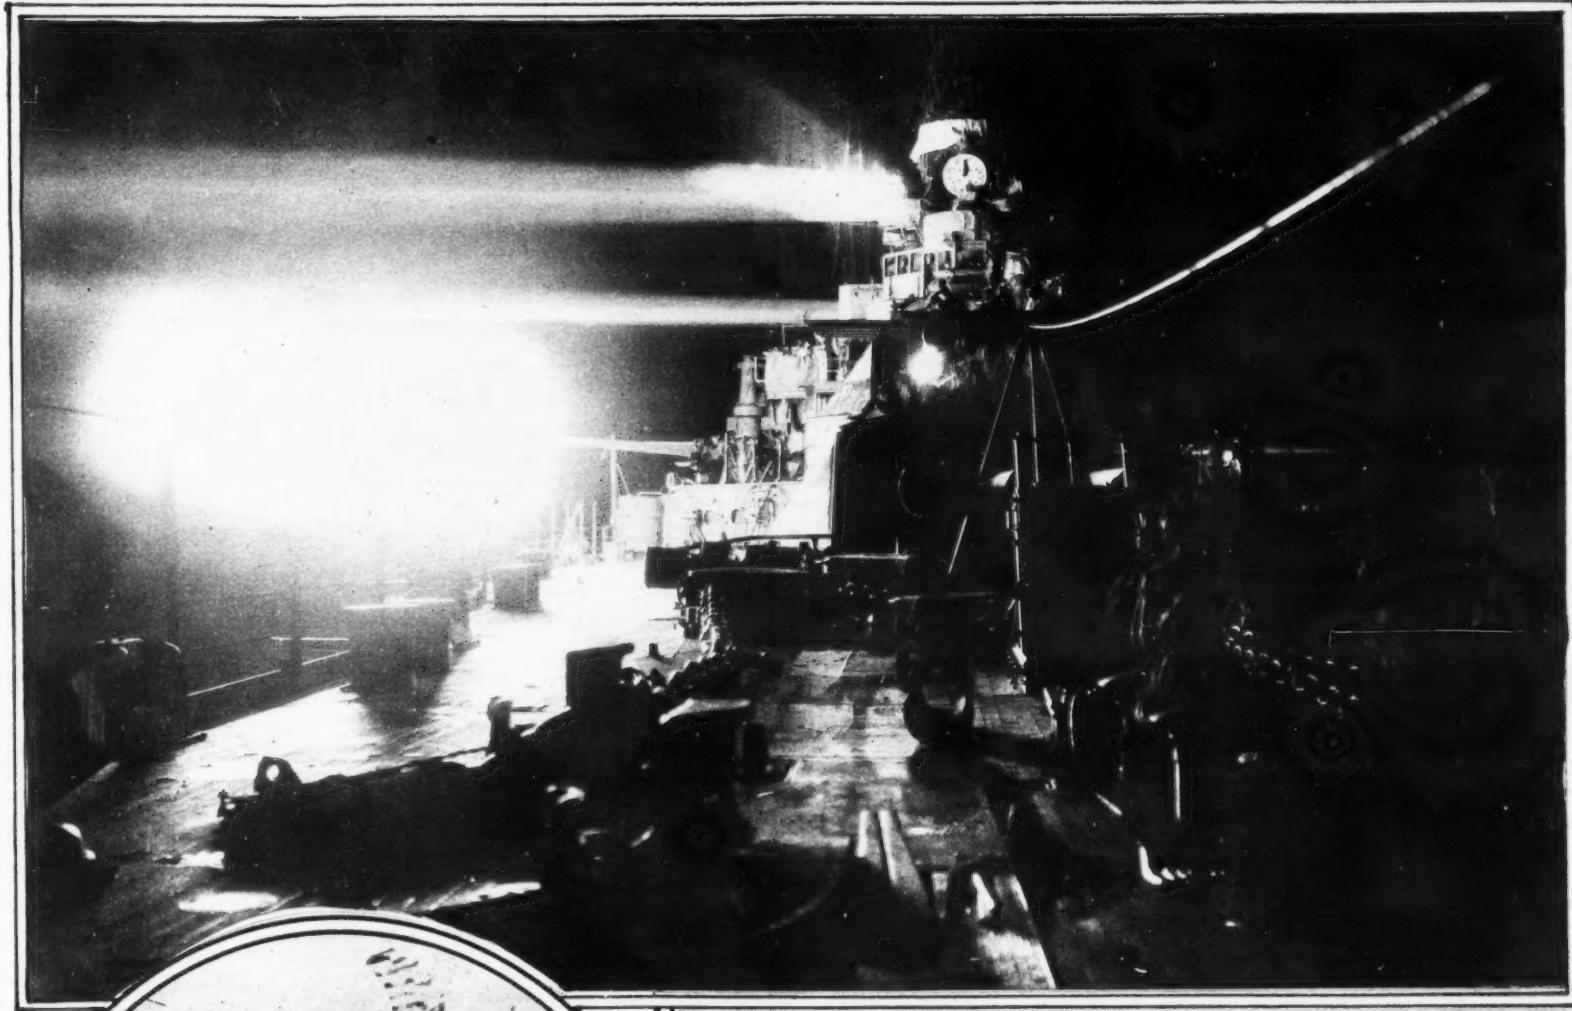

Secretary of the Navy Denby (left) and Admiral Henry B. Wilson, Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet, on board the U. S. S. Pennsylvania at Guantanamo Bay.

(© U. S. Navy Official Photo.)

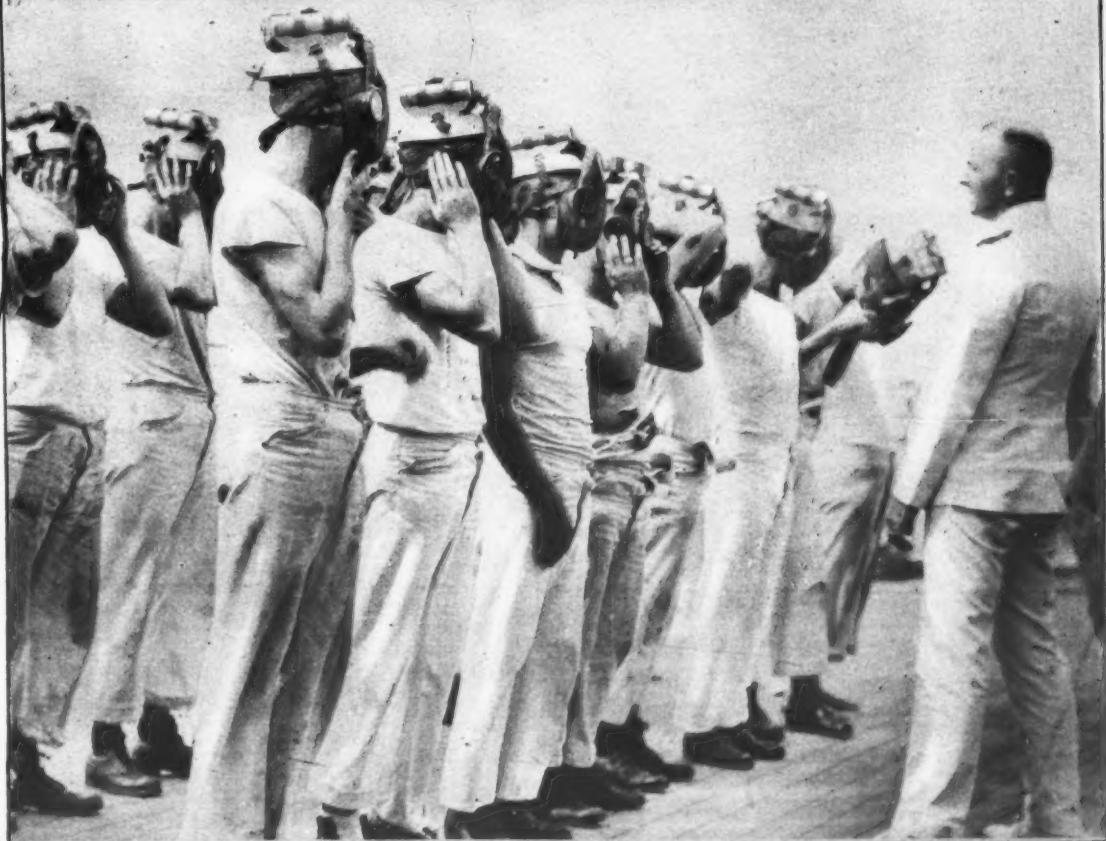

On board the Oklahoma during gun firing and target practice at night in the recent battle manoeuvres at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The accuracy of fire was surprisingly good and the powerful searchlights brought the targets into bold relief.

(© Wide World Photos.)

U. S.
S. Milwaukee about to leave the ways
at Tacoma, Washington. She is a scout cruiser 550 feet long and will have a speed of 35 knots. The launching took place successfully.
(© International)

Gas-mask drill on board the U. S. S. Pennsylvania. This is the first time this mask has been photographed. It has to be adjusted in six seconds.
(© Kadel & Herbert.)

Intense Activity in Upper Silesia Plebiscite

THE plebiscite in Upper Silesia, which took place March 20, 1921, was marked by scenes of great excitement. Feeling was at fever heat among both the Poles and Germans, and each side put forth every possible effort to get out its full vote. For weeks previous trainloads of former citizens of Upper Silesia who were entitled to vote rolled into the district from all parts of Europe. Hundreds came even from America. On the day of the vote vehicles of all kinds were pressed into service to carry the lame and sick to the polls. The German vote was 716,408, the Polish 471,406.

Germans entitled to vote arriving at Koenigshutte in the Upper Silesian plebiscite district. One of them was so ill that he had to be carried from the train in an ambulance.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Woman over 80 years of age being taken to the polls in Beuthen by members of the ambulance force.

Arrival of automobiles filled with German voters at one of the polling places. Placards were borne urging the people to vote for Germany. The most intense excitement marked every phase of the voting.

One of the French tanks in Kattowitz to help in the maintaining of peace and order during the taking of the vote. In the main the voting was orderly, though assaults and killings took place in some districts.

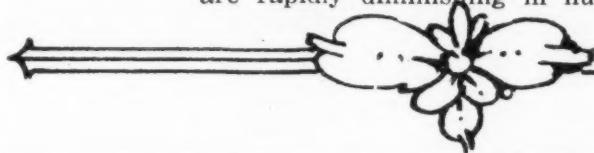

A cripple being helped to the polls in one of the Upper Silesia towns. Extraordinary efforts were made by each side to get out every possible vote.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

"CHILDREN OF THE SAGE"
Pronghorns of the Western plains, resembling antelopes in their grace and speed. It is the swiftest animal in America, but its speed cannot be maintained long and a greyhound will wear it down. They are rapidly diminishing in number.

Powerful Modern Character and Animal Paintings

"THE MOUNTAINEER"
The artist has here depicted with rare fidelity the figure of a Montana mountaineer, the early sun silhouetting his figure while the packhorses follow the perilous trail.

"MORNING MIST"
Huge moose, monarch of the Maine woods, his figure looming through the receding mist as he stands alert, listening to some sound that has attracted his attention and ready for either fight or flight.

"RAMS"
Male members of a band of Rocky Mountain sheep making their way along a craggy cliff with a surefootedness that is unfailing.

"CUTTING OUT STEERS"
Colorful portrayal of cowboys cutting out steers on a Western ranch. The dash and abandon of the skilled riders and the heavy movements of the cattle are admirably depicted.
(From paintings by Carl Rungius, now being exhibited in New York.)

Occupation of Duesseldorf, Germany, by Allied Forces

ALLIED TROOPS AND TANKS TAKING UP THEIR POSITIONS IN THE GREAT SQUARE OF DUESSELDORF, THE MOST IMPORTANT INDUSTRIAL CENTRE IN THE RHINE DISTRICT, MARCH 8, 1921. THE OCCUPATION WAS ORDERED AS A PENALTY FOR GERMANY'S NONCOMPLIANCE WITH THE REPARATIONS TERMS OF THE ALLIES.

Popular Demonstration on Occasion of Trieste Annexation by Italy

GREAT GATHERING IN FRONT OF THE PALACE OF TRIESTE, ITALY, MARCH 20, WHEN THE CITY, WHICH HAD BEEN AWARDED TO ITALY BY THE PEACE TREATY, WAS FORMALLY INCORPORATED INTO THE KINGDOM. TRIESTE IS THE MOST IMPORTANT SEAPORT ON THE ADRIATIC AND ITS REDEMPTION HAS LONG BEEN THE DREAM OF THE ITALIAN PEOPLE.

(© Kadel & Herbert.)